Genesis Camp 2019 Is Coming, and We Need Your Help!

Mon-Fri, Aug 5-9

Once again, Truro will be hosting 250 children from ages 3 to 11 for a week of Jesus, music, art, and acting. It's a big undertaking, and we need volunteers, both now and during the camp. We are looking for group leaders and assistants to spend the week loving the children and pointing them to Jesus. If you'd like to help transform our campus for Genesis, come to our decorating/crafting workdays any Tuesday afternoon from 1:00-3:00 in the Choir Room (in the Education Building), starting this Tuesday, June 18. All ages are welcome!

i Please come outside to the Family Ministry Tent to sign up, or contact Molly Andreson in the Family Ministries Office at MANDreson@TruroAnglican.com.

Men's Bonfire Next Saturday Night

Sat, Jun 22 | 7:00-9:00 pm

Mayfield House on Truro Campus (please park in the church lot)

All men are invited to hang out with a summer bonfire. Here's what to bring:

- a lawn chair (if you have one)
- bug spray :(
- a beverage :)
- snacks and/or dessert :))
- a fun story to tell about yourself :)))

i Email Tony Zipfel at tzipfel@aol.com if you are coming.

TRURO
YOUTH

Summer Youth Events

If you're in 6th-12th grade, there is a lot going on at Truro this summer for you. Middle schoolers and high schoolers have regular Bible studies. There are hangouts on Sundays at 6:00 most weeks (mini golf! bowling! pool party!). And there are some big events coming up: a day at Rehoboth Beach on Wednesday, July 10; a trip to Kings Dominion on Wednesday, August 21; and our annual youth mission trip to Philadelphia, July 21-27. All youth are welcome to any or all of these—bring friends and come!

i Visit the Family Ministries tent or check truroanglican.com/youth for details. Contact Summer Anderson at SAnderson@TruroAnglican.com or Wes Buckley at WBuckley@TruroAnglican.com.

PARISH LIFE

Truro Institute: Inspiring Americans to Love the Other as Other

by Tory Baucum

This fall, Truro Anglican Church will launch the Truro Institute. The Institute board, Truro parish, and friends will gather for the guest lecture of Dr. Jacqueline Rivers, who will speak at Truro on September 21. Dr. Rivers is a Harvard sociologist and recognized world authority on the black church and family in America. Her address, America: A Four Hundred Year Experiment on the Black Family, will commemorate the 400th anniversary of the slave trade in North America, which began in the Anglican colony of Jamestown. Though present-day Anglicans are not personally responsible for the slave trade, we are nonetheless implicated in the sins of our ancestors (Exodus 20:5) as well as racist attitudes and behavior today. This event is held as an act of corporate repentance and a promissory note toward healing our legacies of harm. As such, it is a foretaste of future Truro Institute initiatives, which have as their focus:

- To help deepen the solidarity between Jews and Christians in fostering shalom in America.
- To help heal the wounds of racial division, especially between black and white Christians.

As an ecumenical ministry in the Judeo-Christian tradition, the Truro Institute's mission is inspiring Americans to love the other as other for the common good. Sometimes the other is perceived to be totally other, an enemy. Even in this extreme situation, we are still called to love the other. But is this possible? How does it work? Who does it, and how? Our friend Canon Andrew White is fond of saying, "An enemy is someone whose story we have not yet learned." We have all been shaped by our unique histories and stories. The Institute is committed to helping persons, churches, synagogues, and communities learn the holy habits of thought and action that loving "the other, as other" requires. These holy habits of thought and action are necessary for openness to one another, civility in our mutual and public discourse, and a deeper understanding of disagreement, so that we're not stuck on a zero-sum, winner/loser path. We believe this alternative path is what faith communities and average Americans must learn to walk if they wish to heal America of its current culture of contempt. We are very aware that this is a costly and counter-cultural initiative, both in society and in faith communities.

Truro Anglican Church just completed a peace pilgrimage to Northern Ireland, co-led by Tory Baucum, Les Fairfield, and Shannon Johnston, the retired Episcopal Bishop of Virginia. Along with Rabbi Dr. Marc Gopin, Director of the Center of World Religions, Diplomacy, and Conflict Resolution at George Mason University, Bishop Johnston is the co-chair of the Institute. Other members of the board include ACNA Bishop Todd Hunter, Mark Tooley of the Institute on Religion and Democracy, Rev. Eugene Rivers of the Seymour Institute, and Abbot James Albers of St. Benedict's Abbey. Board-led pilgrimages, lectureships, and personal accompaniment are essential pedagogies of the Institute. The Truro Institute's founding document and board members can be accessed on our website at truroanglican.com/wp-content/uploads/Truro-Institute-Founding-Document.pdf.

If you wish to attend Dr. Rivers' lecture on September 21, you may register at this link: tacva.infellowship.com/Forms/422740.

Finally, we thank the past several Truro vestries who persevered in their vision for the Institute, and Bishop John Guernsey, who challenged us to deepen our mission. We greatly appreciate his support of the Institute. Finally, we thank Archbishop Justin Welby, whose example and courage inspire us to continue to walk in truth and love and to help the Christian Church recover its vocation of peace.

i Come to a Parish Meeting next Sunday, June 23, at 10:30 am to learn more.

Emanuel Screenings This Week on Mon + Wed

Mon, Jun 17 OR Wed, Jun 19 | 7:00 pm

Various Local Theaters

This week is your last opportunity to see this film in a theater, on either Monday or Wednesday evening.

Everyone at Truro is strongly encouraged to see the film, the story of the 2015 shooting at Emanuel AME Church in Charleston and its aftermath.

i Showtimes and tickets are available online (try Fandango.com to see all theaters) and at the box office.

Truro Summer Schedule Begins Today

- Our 7:45 am service is taking a hiatus until September.
- Please consider trying The Five this summer. The Five is held in the Chapel at 5:00 pm and is a little more casual than Sunday morning services. The service includes Communion, singing, preaching, and prayer.
- Lemonade on the Lawn kicks off after today's morning services. Buy a donut at the Family Ministries tent as a complement to your lemonade and to support the Youth Philadelphia mission trip!
- KidZone continues during morning services, but Kids Halftime between services is off for the summer.
- Nursery is open as usual for ages 0-48 months.
- Regular Youth Group takes a break, but Youth have lots of activities scheduled, including big events, Bible studies, and Sunday evening hangouts.

the house

The House meets on Wed(s) at 6:30 pm in the Undercroft for a simplified, fresh expression of Truro consisting of a dinner, a story about Jesus, conversation, prayer, and singing.
